The Crichtons

When Robert Aird Griffith, or Griffiths, married later the Crichton only he married into a very old, numerous, and authentically Scottish, his Welsh strain had already been put down by marriage by means of his Scots mother, Anne Aird, and now a Scottish wife was to restore the Welshness once again.

Robert Aird Griffith married Elizabeth Crichton at Carlisle Scotland
August 21 1841, and they had three children born to them in Scotland James A. B. January 8 1842, Jane born February 20 1844, and William born March 20 1846 before they emigrated to America in 1846 but they were not allowed to emigrate.

The objections were of course given in by William Griffith and Aird Griffith were read by the Rev. John Wylie Minister of Carlisle on August 21 1841.

My report says that John Crichton was born April 21 1787 near Glasgow Scotland and that Janet Hamilton was born in November 13 1785 near Glasgow Scotland. They were married June 5th 1806.
In the General Registry Office in Edinburgh, I was unable to verify the date of birth because I do not know the parishes in which they were born, but I did succeed in verifying the marriage. In 1806, John Crichton was living at Bridgport in the parish of Glasgow, County Dumfries, and Janet Hamilton was living in Old Monkland Parish, County of Leith. In her parish the marriage records state that they were married by the Rev. of Glasgow and Janet Hamilton this Parish to be proclaimed on the three following Sabbaths in his parish the records state:
I do hereby proclaim that John Crichton was married to Janet Hamilton in the parish of Old Monkland and married 5th of June by the Rev. Minister of Glasgow.
My daughter is Letitia Catherine Wilton Burns Duggan 1825 verified in the Ill Family No. 19.
I was indeed very much indebted to her for her family genealogy which she had sent out in 1930 without this help we could not have done so much for the Crichton Family. Fred Crichton No. 26-3

The Crichtons

When Robert Aird Griffith, or Griffiths, married into the Crichton family, he married into a very old, numerous, and authentically Scot' family. His Welsh strain had already been cut down by one-half by reason of his Scots mother, Anne Aird, and now a Scottish wife was to dilute the Welshness once again, Robert Aird Griffith married Elizabeth Crichton at Carluke Scotland on August 27 1841, and they had three children born to them in Scotland (Jeanette A. Born February 8 1842, Anna, born February 20 1844, and William born March 20 1846) before they emigrated to America in 1846 but Jeanette and William died in infancy, and only Anne survived to emigrate with them.

According to the Marriage Record in the Parish of Carluke at the General Registry Office in Edinburgh,

"Robert Aird Griffith and Elizabeth Crichton in this Parish were regularly proclaimed in the Church here in order to marriage Augt. 14th 1841, no objections were offered Name given in by William Griffith. Robert Aird Griffith were married by the Revd. John Wylie Minister of Carluke on the 27th August 1841"

The baptism for the Parish of Carluke shows,

Janet Aird daughter to Robert Griffith and Eliz. Crichton Braidwood Meadow born Feby. 18th and baptised March 27 1842"

These are the first Parish entries in Scotland spelled as Griffith rather than Griffiths. All Parish entries were made by Parish clerks rather than by the parties them selves, Entries for Anne and William were not found.

The wife, Elizabeth Crichton, was the sixth child of John and Janet Hamilton Crichton and we know a great deal about John and Janet Hamilton Crichton because this couple with their children are the subject of Mrs. Draeger's researches in 1930.

Mrs. Draeger says that John Crichton was Born April 21 1787 near Glasgow Scotland and that Janet Hamilton was born November 13 1786 near Glasgow Scotland. They were married June 6th 1806.

At the General Registry Office in Edinburgh, I was unable to verify these dates of birth because I do not know the Parishes in which they were born, but I did succeed in verifying the marriage. In 1806, John Crichton was living at Bridgeport in the Barony Glasgow, County of Lanark, and Janet Hamilton was living in Old Monkland Parish.

county of Lanark. In her parish, the marriage records states "1806 May 16th, John Crichton in the Barony of Glasgow and Janet Hamilton in this Parish to be proclaimed on the three following Sabbaths"

In his Parish the records states;

"1806 May 18 John Crichton weaver Bridgetown and Janet Hamilton in the Parish of Old Monkland and Married 6th of June by the Rev Matthew Graham"

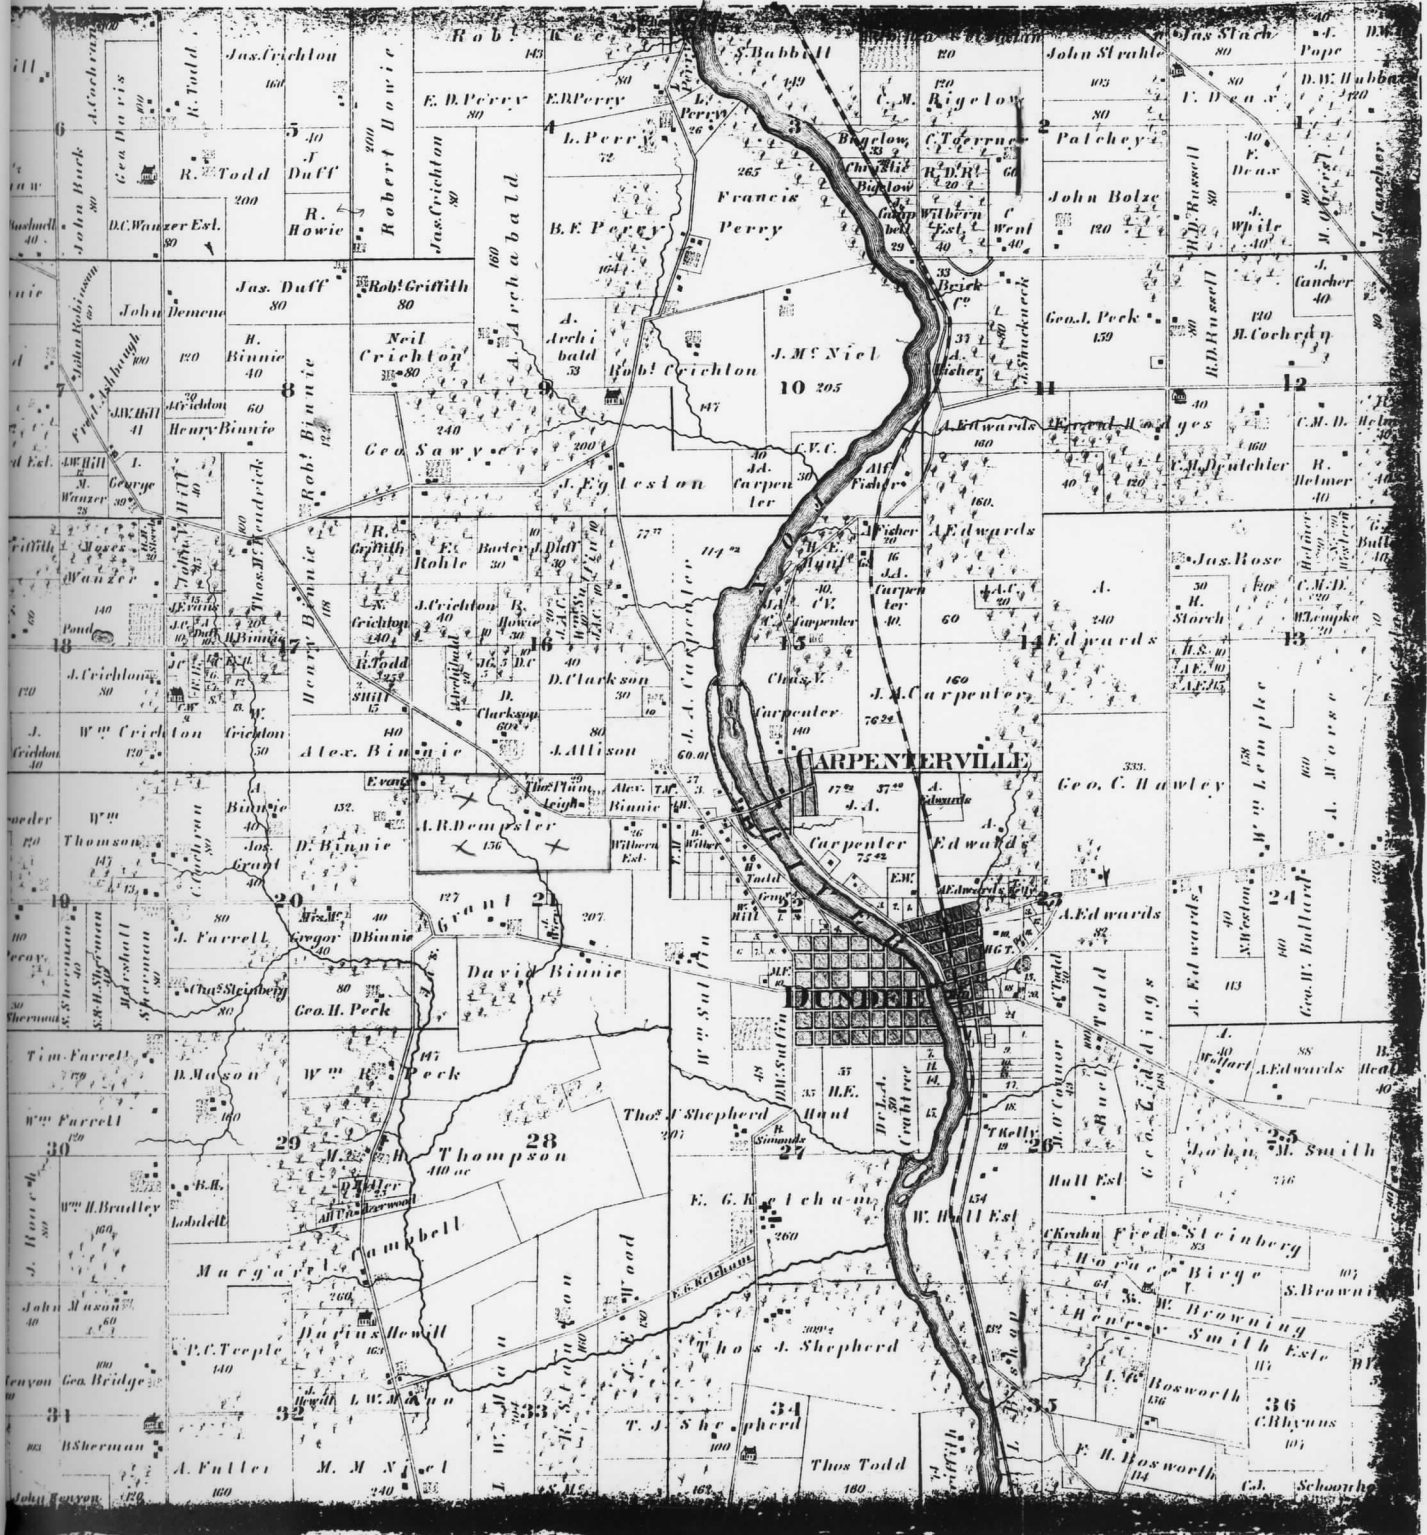

N.B. (Mrs. Draeger is Lois Genevieve Wilson Burns Draeger 1628 Verdellion Danville Ill Family No 10.

We are indeed very much indebted to her for her family genealogy written by her and sent out in 1930 without this data we could not have written this Crichton family history. Fred R. Crichton No. 26-3
